

COMPANY WILL BUILD DUSTLESS TURNPIKE

Work Already Started on Historic Highway Between Winchester and Staunton.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Winchester, Va., July 20.—The board of directors of the Valley Turnpike Company, at a meeting held a few days ago, decided on a dustless asphalt road between Winchester and Staunton. The work has already been started at the Staunton end of the historic highway, which in recent years has become the favorite route for motorists from all sections of the United States. A bituminous under is to be used on top of macadam, and the surface will be rendered as smooth and dustless as a city boulevard.

According to private advice received here to-day, the attention of the Commonwealth Commission will be called to the heroic act of David Flynn, of Morgantown, W. Va., in saving the life of an infant in the Monongahela River at that place and then finding his own child had died at home while he was thus engaged. Clarence Robinson, of Paterson, N. J., and his family had gone on a visit to relatives at Morgantown and were motoring when their car, which had just been purchased, crashed into a telephone pole, overturned and struck a house and then ran into the river. All the occupants were thrown out, except Robert Robinson, sixteen months old, who was carried into the river by the car, which, taking the child under with it, dived twice, finally rescuing the infant, uninjured, except for a bruise on the chin. Flynn was presented by Mr. Robinson with a handsome check, and as the man was leaving his home, proud of the fact that he had saved the little one, he was told that one of his children about the same age as the Robinson infant had just died.

John L. Garver, a native of Middletown, Pa., and who had been a farmer here for twenty-three years, died, aged seventy-nine years, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Dottie Newcome, and his remains were today interred in Mount Lebanon cemetery. Rev. Roy Schmucker, of Williamsport, Md., officiating. Before coming here he was

MOTHER OF THIRTEEN WOULD ADOPT CHILD

Anxious to Take Child Found on Porch of Danville Man.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Danville, Va., July 20.—The infant which was discovered early last week upon the porch of John Friend, a well-known citizen who resides on Holbrook Avenue, has found a home, and has been adopted by Mrs. Theo Green, who lives on Berryman Avenue. As soon as the abandonment of the infant became known there were numerous applicants for it, and Superintendent Pulliam, of the Poor and Aims House, to whom the child was turned over, had quite a difficult task in choosing his foster parents. One of the applicants was the mother of thirteen, who was extremely anxious for it.

Getting Tired of Jail.
John N. Raggsdale, owner of a monthly organ published in Danville, and who is now in jail because of his refusal to be vaccinated, is rapidly growing tired of his enforced idleness, and probably will pay his fine before the end of the week. He was fined several weeks ago for a violation of the city ordinance, took an appeal from the Mayor's Court to the Corporation Court, learned that he was unable to appeal his case, and then declined to pay the fine imposed upon him. He has frequently declared that he would rather go to jail than be vaccinated, because inoculation is against his religious beliefs. Raggsdale intimated yesterday that he probably would pay his fine and leave the city for the county during the coming week, as he cannot afford to be idle.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Topfner, who are traveling through the country ad-for a number of years one of the commissioners of Dauphin County, Pa. A large family connection survives as a result of two marriages. One sister lives at Middletown, Pa.

Rev. William A. McKeefry, formerly pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart here, but who was formerly transferred to St. Joseph's parish at Martinsburg, W. Va., has been taken to the Mercy Hospital in Baltimore for an infarct of the heart. His health has been delicate for a number of years. Father McKeefry has a wide acquaintance in Virginia and adjoining States.

Epidemic of Hog Cholera.
An epidemic of hog cholera has been discovered in several of the upper Virginia Valley counties, and steps have been taken to prevent a spread of the disease in this section of the State. Professor C. E. Kootz, of the United States Department of Agriculture, who came here recently to assist local farmers in demonstrative farm work, has sent out warnings to all country people, urging them to what he calls the "government's remedy" in preventing the disease.

The board of directors of the Shenandoah Valley Agricultural Society, under whose auspices the society is an annual Winchester fair will be held from September 9 to 12 inclusive, has substantially increased the premiums in practically every department, the most important being in the racing classes. Heretofore no racing has been held on the first day, but attractive cards will be presented on each of the four days this year. The society is a member of the National Trotting Association, and also of the Pen Mar circuit.

Preparations are being completed for the annual session of the Virginia Valley Central Christian Conference, which will be held in the new Christian Church here from August 4 to 17. The local pastor, Rev. W. T. Walden, is president of the conference. In addition to the entire Virginia Valley and portions of West Virginia being represented, distinguished clergymen and educators from Elton College, N. C., and Dayton, O., will participate in the conference's deliberations. The Winchester church will be formally dedicated on the last day of the conference.

The Land of the Sky

WHERE HEALTH AND PLEASURE REIGN

Out-door life in the mountains of Western North Carolina offers an endless round of exhilarating pastimes. One never seems to tire in this cool and wonderful climate, thousands of feet above the sea-level.

Whether you seek rest or recreation this summer, go to "The Land of the Sky." Reached by the

SOUTHERN RAILWAY

Premier Carrier of the South

Luxurious hotels and private cottages offer you the finest of accommodations. Golf, motoring, boating, mountain climbing by day. Music, dancing and other social entertainment by night, at Asheville, Black Mountain, Hendersonville, Brevard, Lake Toxaway, Sudas, Waynesville, Tryon, Flat Rock, Hot Springs, N. C., and many other resorts. For tickets and information apply to Dep't. A, S. E. Burgess, Division Passenger Agent, 907 E. Main Street, Richmond.

Write for illustrated booklet on "The Land of the Sky." Specially reduced fares for summer, liberal stopovers. Besides America's most charming vacation district, Southern Railway embraces territory offering unusually remunerative investment in fruit culture and manufacturing.

The Weather.

Forecast: Virginia—Generally fair Monday and Tuesday.

Special Local Data for Yesterday.
12 noon temperature	83
3 P. M. temperature	87
Maximum temperature	up to 88
P. M. temperature	up to 86
Minimum temperature	up to 8
Mean temperature	68
Normal temperature	78
Deficiency in temperature	10
Excess in temperature since March 2	8
Excess in temperature since January 1	126
Excess in rainfall since March 1	1.36
Excess in rainfall since January 1	1.92

Local Observation 8 P. M. Yesterday.

Temperature	73
Humidity	75
Wind—direction	S. W.
Force—velocity	2
Weather	P. Cloudy

CONDITIONS IN IMPORTANT CITIES.

Place	Ther.	H. T.	W. T.	Weather
Asheville	78	82	68	P. Cloudy
Atlanta	83	87	72	P. Cloudy
Baltimore	72	82	72	P. Cloudy
Boston	70	86	70	Rain
Buffalo	60	74	60	P. Cloudy
Charleston	82	82	82	Cloudy
Chicago	66	68	64	Clear
Cincinnati	66	70	68	Clear
Duluth	66	70	68	Clear
Galveston	84	98	76	Clear
Hartford	88	92	84	P. Cloudy
Havre	88	92	84	P. Cloudy
Jacksonville	80	94	80	Clear
Kansas City	70	78	70	Clear
Louisville	80	88	80	Clear
Montgomery	80	90	78	Cloudy
New Orleans	74	88	74	Rain
New York	74	88	74	Rain
Norfolk	78	84	72	Cloudy
Pittsburgh	74	86	74	Cloudy
Raleigh	68	88	68	Rain
St. Louis	80	84	74	Clear
St. Paul	72	82	72	Clear
San Francisco	68	62	54	Cloudy
Savannah	84	98	82	Cloudy
Spokane	84	92	84	Cloudy
Tampa	82	88	78	Clear
Washington	72	80	72	P. Cloudy
Winnipeg	78	88	78	Clear
Wytheville	72	82	66	Clear

MINIATURE ALMANAC.
July 21, 1913.
Sun rises 5:09
Sun sets 7:30
HIGH TIDE: Morning 4:26
Evening 8:11

HOME COMPLETED FOR CHRISTIAN WORKERS

Unique Church Enterprise Has Been Under Charge of Richmond Man.

BY MAMIE BAYS.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Montreat, N. C., July 20.—The past few days, Montreat have witnessed the arrival of a large number of additional visitors from all parts of the South, who desire to attend the summer conferences of the Southern Presbyterian Church, now in session here, and to enjoy the climate and association, which are strong points of attraction. It is worthy of note that during the past week, while a large part of the South has been held in the grip of a severe hot wave, no light has passed at Montreat that the residents and visitors have not found blankets necessary to comfort.

The second period of the summer conferences has strong attractions in Rev. J. Gray McAllister, D. D., of Louisville, Ky., as teacher of the Bible, and Rev. George M. Steed, of West Virginia, as lecturer on "The Literary and Vocal Interpretation of the Bible," and Rev. Melvin Grove Kyle, D. D., whose discourses are being heard with special interest.

Beginning on Monday, Rev. T. R. English, D. D., of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, will begin a series of addresses on the study of the Bible, and he will be heard each day until August 1st. As a teacher of the Bible, Dr. English stands in the front rank, and his addresses will add special attraction to the Montreat program during the next ten days.

Interest in the work of young people and children increases with each day, and greater care is being given to the features of the work of Montreat than is being given to this. The visitors who have arrived with the Bible and the children, and the large number of boys and girls, and the large interest in their part, has been organized during the past week, and the work will continue during the next ten days.

One of the distinctly interesting events of the summer conference is the opening of the Christian Workers' Home, a large and commodious building, which was erected during the past year, and which has just been opened for occupancy. This building was erected by the Southern Presbyterian Church, in the addition of gifts from a number of individuals. The building occupies a most desirable location, and is a reservation. It is situated on an eminence a number of feet higher than the fact the overlooks the lake, and commands one of the most beautiful views within the Montreat inclosure.

On the first floor of the building there are a big lobby or reception room, and the offices and bedrooms of the secretaries, and the offices of the missionaries, Christian education and ministerial relief and publication, and Sabbath school work. Here the secretaries will carry on the full details of their work during the months that the summer conference is being held each year. The second and third floors contain bedrooms and baths only. There are thirty bedrooms, and the building is furnished for the occupancy of two hundred persons.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Culpeper, Va., July 20.—Miss Lucy Fletcher, the adopted daughter of R. S. Read, an lives just west of Culpeper, and Martin T. Bell, of The Plains, were married in Washington last week, the marriage being the culmination of a romance begun at the Culpeper Horse Show where they met for the first time. Mr. Bell was one of the exhibitors at the show, and Mrs. Bell is a well-known horsewoman.

Dog days are bringing their usual complement of mad dogs, one having been killed in Culpeper this week by a mad dog. Another was killed in Warrenton on Saturday by William Robinson. The dogs and not bitten any one or injured stock so far as known.

M. Y. Berry, of Culpeper, has purchased from A. H. Wallace a tract of land on the Rapidan River containing about 338 acres. Mr. Berry, who is an up-to-date farmer, and has this year been specializing very successfully in wheat, will take possession of his new property about December 1.

Julian Gaynor, for forty years in the United States Navy, is visiting relatives at Town, Sergeant John Sweatman, and since a short stay about twenty years ago. Since that time Mr. Gaynor has been all over the world, and was ill in Marine Hospital, San Francisco, some years made her home in New Mexico, where her husband, Dr. McAnahan, formerly of the Navy, was engaged in practicing medicine. The purchase was made by a lawyer of Culpeper. This is the first time this fine estate has been sold except in entirety since it was first established by the Beverly family in pre-Revolutionary times.

A sale was made this week of 311 acres of the large estate known as "The Greys" in the neighborhood of being Mrs. Kemper McClanahan, share of the 2,300 acres of this farm left to his nine children by the late Franklin S. Kemper. Mrs. McClanahan has for some years made her home in New Mexico, where her husband, Dr. McAnahan, formerly of the Navy, was engaged in practicing medicine. The purchase was made by a lawyer of Culpeper. This is the first time this fine estate has been sold except in entirety since it was first established by the Beverly family in pre-Revolutionary times.

persons. The furniture selected for the entire building is the best, and the substantial and attractive have been combined in the selection of the same. There is as yet no dining room or cafe in connection with this building, but this may be added within the next two or three years. The building, however, is located convenient to the hotels and boarding houses, and the occupants will take their meals wherever they may desire. There is abundant porch space in the basement of the building, and the provision has been made for the installation of a laundry and for a place to supply steam heat. It is anticipated that at a time not far distant it will be necessary to keep the Christian Workers' Home open throughout the year for the accommodation of foreign and home missionaries who are taking rest from their work, but who have no homes except on their fields of labor. One of the special features for the erection of this building was the desire upon the part of those interested in the enterprise to furnish missionaries and other Christian workers a place at Montreat where they could find accommodation at a merely nominal cost, and use the time to rest and study the Bible, and to enjoy the Montreat conferences.

Mr. J. E. Magill, of Richmond, secretary of the executive committee of publication and Sabbath school work, has had building the home, and the work of the architecture and building and furnishing the home. He has given every meeting of his forenoon, and the building is to-day a splendid result of his work. It would have been completed much earlier had not the complete havoc of all that had been done by architect, contractor and carpenter. Mr. Magill intends to the removal of the debris and the work of removing the debris was begun at once. Immediately after new material could be secured, rebuilding was begun, and within an unusually short time the home, erected at a cost of almost $20,000, was ready for occupancy. Rev. Walter L. Burdette, D. D., of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, was the first person to see the new home, and he was followed quickly by Rev. Henry H. Sweet, D. D., of Louisville, Ky., secretary of the Christian Workers' Home, and his family, and within a very short time missionaries and other Christian workers had engaged every room.

The money for furnishing twenty-five rooms, and the other work in the home has been provided by individuals and church societies, most of the money having been contributed as a memorial fund for some minister or other Christian worker. The money in connection with the Christian Workers' Home is that it is probably the largest sum of money ever contributed by any denomination. So far as is known it is unique in this respect that it is for a building which is to be used especially by those who are included in the number of people which the name of the building implies. That the place of rest will be appreciated by those to whom its special mission extends is evidenced by the fact that the building has been occupied by those who have been in the service of the church for many years.

Marvin Grove, in the southern part of Richmond County, near the borders of Lancaster and Northumberland, is held every year about the 1st of August by the Southern Methodist Church, and is a beautiful grove of primeval oaks that crown a gently rising eminence. In the middle of the grounds stands the great octagonal tabernacle capable of seating several thousand people. From the tabernacle radiate seven avenues, lined on both sides with neat and comfortable cottages, numbering about 100 in all. This camp-meeting is named for Bishop Marvin, one of the leading ministers of his denomination in the nineteenth century, and has been in existence nearly forty years.

Wharton Grove camp is located on the Rappahannock River, in the lower part of Lancaster. It is under the control of the Baptist denomination, and was named for the Rev. H. M. Wharton, of Baltimore, who has been the leading preacher at all the encampments since the camp was organized about thirty years ago. Its location on the Rappahannock, between the Carotoman River and Carter's Creek, is probably unsurpassed for comfort and picturesque beauty. Thousands come every year from Norfolk and Baltimore to attend this meeting, and during the two Sundays that the encampments is going on, the Rappahannock River in front of the meeting is alive with steamers, launches and other water craft. Wharton Grove camp-meeting will begin next Friday and continue for ten days. Workmen are busy putting the buildings and grounds in order.

Kirkland Grove, near Heathsville, in Northumberland County, is also conducted under the auspices of the Baptists, and was named for Dr. Kirk, a native of Lancaster County, and a preacher of great power and popularity in his day. This camp-meeting will begin about the middle of August, and like the others, will continue for ten days. The preachers selected for this meeting are the Rev. Turman H. Martin, of Charlottesville, and Dr. Ayres, of Lynchburg.

Everywhere in these three counties peace and during the two Sundays that the encampments is going on, the Rappahannock River in front of the meeting is alive with steamers, launches and other water craft. Wharton Grove camp-meeting will begin next Friday and continue for ten days. Workmen are busy putting the buildings and grounds in order.

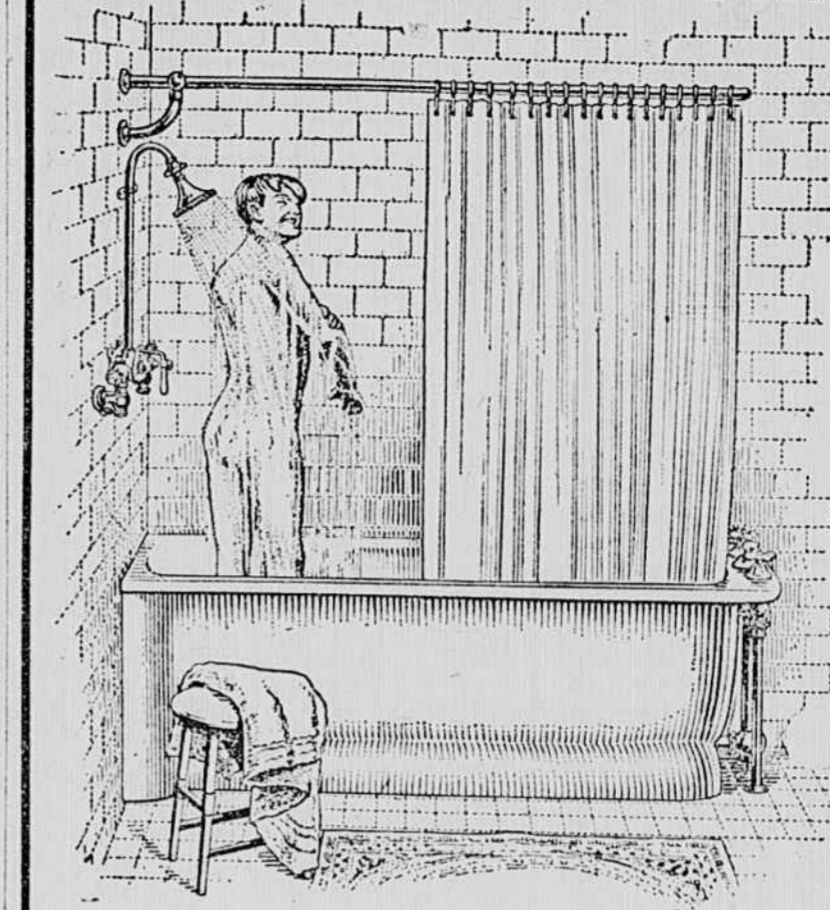

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lancaster, Va., July 20.—Nowhere else in Virginia does the old-fashioned camp-meeting survive and flourish as in the three lower counties of the Rappahannock. Every summer one camp-meeting is held in each one of these counties.

Marvin Grove, in the southern part of Richmond County, near the borders of Lancaster and Northumberland, is held every year about the 1st of August by the Southern Methodist Church, and is a beautiful grove of primeval oaks that crown a gently rising eminence. In the middle of the grounds stands the great octagonal tabernacle capable of seating several thousand people. From the tabernacle radiate seven avenues, lined on both sides with neat and comfortable cottages, numbering about 100 in all. This camp-meeting is named for Bishop Marvin, one of the leading ministers of his denomination in the nineteenth century, and has been in existence nearly forty years.

Wharton Grove camp is located on the Rappahannock River, in the lower part of Lancaster. It is under the control of the Baptist denomination, and was named for the Rev. H. M. Wharton, of Baltimore, who has been the leading preacher at all the encampments since the camp was organized about thirty years ago. Its location on the Rappahannock, between the Carotoman River and Carter's Creek, is probably unsurpassed for comfort and picturesque beauty. Thousands come every year from Norfolk and Baltimore to attend this meeting, and during the two Sundays that the encampments is going on, the Rappahannock River in front of the meeting is alive with steamers, launches and other water craft. Wharton Grove camp-meeting will begin next Friday and continue for ten days. Workmen are busy putting the buildings and grounds in order.

Kirkland Grove, near Heathsville, in Northumberland County, is also conducted under the auspices of the Baptists, and was named for Dr. Kirk, a native of Lancaster County, and a preacher of great power and popularity in his day. This camp-meeting will begin about the middle of August, and like the others, will continue for ten days. The preachers selected for this meeting are the Rev. Turman H. Martin, of Charlottesville, and Dr. Ayres, of Lynchburg.

A Modern Bathroom with a Built-in Tub Makes Possible the Perfect Rain Bath

Draw the curtain—and you have as complete a Shower Bath as money can buy.

You have the most delightful form of indoor bathing known to man.

Every drop tingles with a message of health, strength, and joy. Shower bathing means clear eyes and brains—sturdy bodies for the youngsters—rest and refreshment for tired men.

Remember—with our Showers you may have any water temperature that you desire.

Come to our Show-room and be surprised to learn how little it will cost you to add a Shower to your Bathroom.

VIRGINIA-CAROLINA SUPPLY CO., 8-12 South Eighth Street.

MANY CAMP-MEETINGS IN NORTHERN NECK

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Lancaster, Va., July 20.—Nowhere else in Virginia does the old-fashioned camp-meeting survive and flourish as in the three lower counties of the Rappahannock. Every summer one camp-meeting is held in each one of these counties.

Marvin Grove, in the southern part of Richmond County, near the borders of Lancaster and Northumberland, is held every year about the 1st of August by the Southern Methodist Church, and is a beautiful grove of primeval oaks that crown a gently rising eminence. In the middle of the grounds stands the great octagonal tabernacle capable of seating several thousand people. From the tabernacle radiate seven avenues, lined on both sides with neat and comfortable cottages, numbering about 100 in all. This camp-meeting is named for Bishop Marvin, one of the leading ministers of his denomination in the nineteenth century, and has been in existence nearly forty years.

Wharton Grove camp is located on the Rappahannock River, in the lower part of Lancaster. It is under the control of the Baptist denomination, and was named for the Rev. H. M. Wharton, of Baltimore, who has been the leading preacher at all the encampments since the camp was organized about thirty years ago. Its location on the Rappahannock, between the Carotoman River and Carter's Creek, is probably unsurpassed for comfort and picturesque beauty. Thousands come every year from Norfolk and Baltimore to attend this meeting, and during the two Sundays that the encampments is going on, the Rappahannock River in front of the meeting is alive with steamers, launches and other water craft. Wharton Grove camp-meeting will begin next Friday and continue for ten days. Workmen are busy putting the buildings and grounds in order.

Kirkland Grove, near Heathsville, in Northumberland County, is also conducted under the auspices of the Baptists, and was named for Dr. Kirk, a native of Lancaster County, and a preacher of great power and popularity in his day. This camp-meeting will begin about the middle of August, and like the others, will continue for ten days. The preachers selected for this meeting are the Rev. Turman H. Martin, of Charlottesville, and Dr. Ayres, of Lynchburg.

Everywhere in these three counties peace and during the two Sundays that the encampments is going on, the Rappahannock River in front of the meeting is alive with steamers, launches and other water craft. Wharton Grove camp-meeting will begin next Friday and continue for ten days. Workmen are busy putting the buildings and grounds in order.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lancaster, Va., July 20.—Nowhere else in Virginia does the old-fashioned camp-meeting survive and flourish as in the three lower counties of the Rappahannock. Every summer one camp-meeting is held in each one of these counties.

Marvin Grove, in the southern part of Richmond County, near the borders of Lancaster and Northumberland, is held every year about the 1st of August by the Southern Methodist Church, and is a beautiful grove of primeval oaks that crown a gently rising eminence. In the middle of the grounds stands the great octagonal tabernacle capable of seating several thousand people. From the tabernacle radiate seven avenues, lined on both sides with neat and comfortable cottages, numbering about 100 in all. This camp-meeting is named for Bishop Marvin, one of the leading ministers of his denomination in the nineteenth century, and has been in existence nearly forty years.

Wharton Grove camp is located on the Rappahannock River, in the lower part of Lancaster. It is under the control of the Baptist denomination, and was named for the Rev. H. M. Wharton, of Baltimore, who has been the leading preacher at all the encampments since the camp was organized about thirty years ago. Its location on the Rappahannock, between the Carotoman River and Carter's Creek, is probably unsurpassed for comfort and picturesque beauty. Thousands come every year from Norfolk and Baltimore to attend this meeting, and during the two Sundays that the encampments is going on, the Rappahannock River in front of the meeting is alive with steamers, launches and other water craft. Wharton Grove camp-meeting will begin next Friday and continue for ten days. Workmen are busy putting the buildings and grounds in order.

Kirkland Grove, near Heathsville, in Northumberland County, is also conducted under the auspices of the Baptists, and was named for Dr. Kirk, a native of Lancaster County, and a preacher of great power and popularity in his day. This camp-meeting will begin about the middle of August, and like the others, will continue for ten days. The preachers selected for this meeting are the Rev. Turman H. Martin, of Charlottesville, and Dr. Ayres, of Lynchburg.

Everywhere in these three counties peace and during the two Sundays that the encampments is going on, the Rappahannock River in front of the meeting is alive with steamers, launches and other water craft. Wharton Grove camp-meeting will begin next Friday and continue for ten days. Workmen are busy putting the buildings and grounds in order.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lancaster, Va., July 20.—Nowhere else in Virginia does the old-fashioned camp-meeting survive and flourish as in the three lower counties of the Rappahannock. Every summer one camp-meeting is held in each one of these counties.

the leading preacher at all the encampments since the camp was organized about thirty years ago. Its location on the Rappahannock, between the Carotoman River and Carter's Creek, is probably unsurpassed for comfort and picturesque beauty. Thousands come every year from Norfolk and Baltimore to attend this meeting, and during the two Sundays that the encampments is going on, the Rappahannock River in front of the meeting is alive with steamers, launches and other water craft. Wharton Grove camp-meeting will begin next Friday and continue for ten days. Workmen are busy putting the buildings and grounds in order.

Kirkland Grove, near Heathsville, in Northumberland County, is also conducted under the auspices of the Baptists, and was named for Dr. Kirk, a native of Lancaster County, and a preacher of great power and popularity in his day. This camp-meeting will begin about the middle of August, and like the others, will continue for ten days. The preachers selected for this meeting are the Rev. Turman H. Martin, of Charlottesville, and Dr. Ayres, of Lynchburg.

Everywhere in these three counties peace and during the two Sundays that the encampments is going on, the Rappahannock River in front of the meeting is alive with steamers, launches and other water craft. Wharton Grove camp-meeting will begin next Friday and continue for ten days. Workmen are busy putting the buildings and grounds in order.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lancaster, Va., July 20.—Nowhere else in Virginia does the old-fashioned camp-meeting survive and flourish as in the three lower counties of the Rappahannock. Every summer one camp-meeting is held in each one of these counties.

Marvin Grove, in the southern part of Richmond County, near the borders of Lancaster and Northumberland, is held every year about the 1st of August by the Southern Methodist Church, and is a beautiful grove of primeval oaks that crown a gently rising eminence. In the middle of the grounds stands the great octagonal tabernacle capable of seating several thousand people. From the tabernacle radiate seven avenues, lined on both sides with neat and comfortable cottages, numbering about 100 in all. This camp-meeting is named for Bishop Marvin, one of the leading ministers of his denomination in the nineteenth century, and has been in existence nearly forty years.

Wharton Grove camp is located on the Rappahannock River, in the lower part of Lancaster. It is under the control of the Baptist denomination, and was named for the Rev. H. M. Wharton, of Baltimore, who has been the leading preacher at all the encampments since the camp was organized about thirty years ago. Its location on the Rappahannock, between the Carotoman River and Carter's Creek, is probably unsurpassed for comfort and picturesque beauty. Thousands come every year from Norfolk and Baltimore to attend this meeting, and during the two Sundays that the encampments is going on, the Rappahannock River in front of the meeting is alive with steamers, launches and other water craft. Wharton Grove camp-meeting will begin next Friday and continue for ten days. Workmen are busy putting the buildings and grounds in order.

Kirkland Grove, near Heathsville, in Northumberland County, is also conducted under the auspices of the Baptists, and was named for Dr. Kirk, a native of Lancaster County, and a preacher of great power and popularity in his day. This camp-meeting will begin about the middle of August, and like the others, will continue for ten days. The preachers selected for this meeting are the Rev. Turman H. Martin, of Charlottesville, and Dr. Ayres, of Lynchburg.

Everywhere in these three counties peace and during the two Sundays that the encampments is going on, the Rappahannock River in front of the meeting is alive with steamers, launches and other water craft. Wharton Grove camp-meeting will begin next Friday and continue for ten days. Workmen are busy putting the buildings and grounds in order.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lancaster, Va., July 20.—Nowhere else in Virginia does the old-fashioned camp-meeting survive and flourish as in the three lower counties of the Rappahannock. Every summer one camp-meeting is held in each one of these counties.

HARVEY WILL OPEN JULY TERM TO-DAY

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Chatham, July 20.—The regular July term of Pittsylvania County Circuit Court will convene to-morrow, Judge E. C. Harvey presiding. The following cases are on docket for trial: Millard Martin, for shooting Kendrick; Thomas Townes, colored, for assault; Coleman Tucker, colored, appeal from Justice Court; Sam Pugh, appeal from Justice Court; William Jones, colored, for housebreaking; Civil docket; William Overton against School Board of Hanover District, to recover deferred payments on school building erected in Hanover District, but which the school board claims is not according to contract; Town of Chatham against Thomas Haskins, colored, for selling whiskey without license.

The political pot will simmer considerably on Monday, as several candidates will be present to reveal to the good people their reasons for desiring to office, and why they are looking for support. Some are booked for speeches, and the campaign will be opened formally.

The congregation of the Chatham Baptist Church on Wednesday night last extended a call to Rev. F. W. Kearfoot, of Berryville, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. T. R. Sanford. Mr. Kearfoot delivered several sermons, and the congregation was so well pleased that the call was made. Mr. Kearfoot has not been heard from.

A local option election will be held in this place on August 7. One of the principal objects of this election, it is carried dry, is to close up the local branch of the Robert Porter Brewing Co., which has been in operation here since very soon after the election voted out of Danville. The election is causing practically no comment, and has been discussed very little.

The annual meeting of the South Piedmont Convention of the Christian church will on Tuesday night next assemble with the Christian church of this place. Ample arrangements have been made for all delegates, and the meeting promises to be one of the best in many years.

Motorman Shot Daring Escape.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Lynchburg, Va., July 20.—On a street car to-night, Conductor Burford arrested Jim Tweedy, colored, for being disorderly. Tweedy tried to get away, but was caught. He was taken to the police station, and his pockets were searched. A revolver was found in his possession. The police are now looking for the man who shot the motorman.

It's up to Pollard now to Accept Cumming's Challenge to meet him, there will be murmurs of discontent in the camp. In the meanwhile, all of the candidates who are undergoing the arduous ordeal of this campaign should fortify themselves with a bottle of Tripp's Brown Bitters, which costs little and occupies but small space in their grips. With the constant change of climate, diet and water encountered in a campaign, this is a most effective remedy for stomach troubles, a godsend for the candidates who may eat and drink what they please with impunity, and an occasional dose of Tripp's Bitters will ward off disease and maintain health and vigor. It is a guaranteed cure. We take all the risk. If the first seven doses don't do the work, bring the bottle back and get your money.